

Vaccinated Travel Framework (eff 31Mar22, 2359h SIN time)

Effective 31 March 2022, 2359hrs (Singapore time), all fully-vaccinated travellers can enter Singapore quarantine-free.

- All countries/regions are currently in the General Travel Category today
- Air Travel Pass (ATP) and Vaccinated Travel Lane (VTL) schemes will be retired
- There will be no restrictions on departing cities
- All flights can carry vaccinated and unvaccinated travellers

Kindly visit ICA website for full checklist of the new Vaccinated Travel Framework requirements. Please ensure that travellers adhere to these requirements otherwise, they may be turned away by airlines/immigration, or be subjected to the prevailing health requirements and quarantine.

Information extracted from Immigration & Checkpoints Authority Singapore (ICA). More details and requirements here.

1. Travelling to Singapore

Under the new Vaccinated Travel Framework, all travel requirements are calibrated based mainly on the traveller's COVID-19 vaccination status.

Traveller who is....	Travel Checklist

2. Departing from Singapore

On this page, travellers intending to depart from Singapore can find information on:

- a) Departure advisories and requirements
- b) Obtaining a pre-departure COVID-19 test in Singapore for overseas travel \(if required\)
- c) Obtaining a digitally authenticated pre-departure COVID-19 test result \(if required\)
- d) Obtaining digitally authenticated vaccination certificate \(if required\)

3. Transiting through Singapore

Transit travellers refer to those who depart for a third country via Singapore without clearing arrival immigration. Travellers who intend to clear arrival immigration and enter Singapore, before departing for a third country, are not considered as transit travellers. They are responsible for ensuring that they fulfill all requirements for entry into Singapore, and should refer to the "Travelling to Singapore" page for more information.

Singapore does not require COVID-19 tests, travel visas or entry approvals for transit travellers. However, travellers who transit in Changi must have their checked-in luggage tagged-through from the origin airport to their final destination. Travellers interested in connecting through Changi Airport should consult the airline on the options available.

Please note that the authorities of the destination country may impose requirements on travellers transiting in Singapore, which travellers also have to comply with. As an illustration, if travellers intend to depart from Country X, transit in Singapore, and fly to destination Country Y, they are strongly advised to check the requirements of Country Y, such as:

- i. Acceptance of transit travellers: Whether the authorities of destination Country Y accept travellers transiting through Singapore, including whether they impose requirements on using certain flights for transit.
- ii. Entry requirements: Whether the authorities of destination Country Y impose conditions of entry such as visas, entry approvals, vaccinations or other documentation. The airline will check upon boarding if you have the relevant documentation on hand.
- iii. Pre-departure testing (PDT) requirements: If Country Y requires travellers to take a COVID-19 test for entry into Country Y. Such COVID-19 tests are not available in the transit area of Changi Airport and travellers should take their PDT in Country X, if Country Y requires them to do so.

For more information about Singapore Changi Airport's transit area, including shopping and dining options within the departure transit area, please check the Changi Airport website.
